

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MEDIA CONTACT: Rhonda Grundemann, 602-739-8810 rgrundemann@evivebrands.com

Rebuilding Together Colorado and The Brothers That Just Do Gutters Denver Provide Critical Home Repairs for Veteran Widow Through “Gutters for Good” Program

COMMERCE CITY, Colo. — April 24, 2026 — Rebuilding Together Colorado has partnered with The Brothers That Just Do Gutters Denver to provide a no-cost, professionally installed gutter system to Joyce, a widow of a U.S. Air Force veteran, through the national “Gutters for Good” initiative. The project is part of National Rebuilding Month, a nationwide effort to deliver critical home repairs to those in need, culminating in National Rebuilding Day on April 25.

Joyce’s late husband, John, served more than 20 years in the Air Force as a photographer and multimedia producer. Since his passing in July 2021, Joyce has remained active in her community, volunteering weekly with Volunteers of America’s meal program to support fellow seniors, despite facing personal and financial hardships.

After nine months on Rebuilding Together Colorado’s waitlist, Joyce will receive essential repairs to address significant safety concerns at her home. Her existing gutter system was improperly installed, with downspouts directing water toward the house rather than away from it. This caused water to flow into the driveway, creating icy and hazardous conditions during winter months.

“The gutters I have right now are leaking and can be icy,” said Joyce. “I’m very excited for new gutters and hopeful about no more leaks or icy conditions at my front walkway.”

The project includes a full replacement of the home’s downspout system to ensure proper water diversion, along with the installation of a seamless gutter system. The home will also be equipped with BroGuard, an innovative, maintenance-free gutter guard system developed by The Brothers That Just Do Gutters, designed to improve long-term performance and protection.

“As a veteran-owned business, this project is especially meaningful to us,” said James Estes, owner of The Brothers That Just Do Gutters Denver and a veteran of the Idaho Army National Guard. “We’ve seen firsthand how critical proper drainage is to protecting a home. Being able to correct these hazards and provide a long-term solution for Joyce is an honor and a reflection of what ‘Gutters for Good’ is all about.”

“This project represents the power of community partnerships coming together to make a real difference,” said Jodie Liddy, executive director of Rebuilding Together Colorado. “Through National Rebuilding Month, we are able to provide essential repairs at no cost to neighbors who need it most, ensuring they can live safely and comfortably in their homes.”

The “Gutters for Good” initiative provides free, professionally installed gutter systems to deserving veterans across the country, helping to improve home safety and resilience.

For more information about The Brothers That Just Do Gutters Denver, visit <https://denver.brothersgutters.com>.

About Rebuilding Together Colorado

Rebuilding Together Colorado is a nonprofit organization dedicated to repairing homes, revitalizing communities and rebuilding lives. Through partnerships with volunteers, donors and community organizations, the organization provides critical home repairs at no cost to veterans, older adults and families in need. Learn more at <https://www.rtcOLORADO.org/>

About The Brothers That Just Do Gutters – Denver

The Brothers That Just Do Gutters–Denver is a veteran-owned home-services franchise providing seamless gutter installation, cleaning, repair and gutter-guard solutions throughout the Front Range. Nationally, The Brothers That Just Do Gutters operates more than 100 locations and is recognized for premium craftsmanship, transparency and community service. Learn more at <https://denver.brothersgutters.com>.